

David Go

PhD student, Virginia Tech Department of Geosciences

dego@vt.edu

Education

- 2024 BS in Geological Sciences, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Awarded with Highest Honors and Distinction.
Thesis: ctdTurbO2: Open-Source, Low-Cost Sensors for Oceanographic and Environmental Research

Awards

- 2024 Op White Award
UNC EMES Department award for undergraduate scholarly achievement in geology
- 2022 First Place Undergraduate Poster Contest
UNC EMES Department Research Symposium

Research

- 2024 Undergraduate Researcher, Martens Lab, UNC EMES
Designed and built an open-source sonde for financially accessible environmental and oceanographic research as honors thesis.
- 2022 Undergraduate Laboratory Technician, Rodriguez Lab, UNC EMES
Worked with PhD Student Josh Himmelstein on building and deploying OpenOBS turbidity loggers on salt marshes in Eastern NC.
- 2022 Undergraduate Laboratory Technician, Eidam Lab, UNC EMES
Worked with PhD Student Ted Langhorst on building and upgrading OpenOBS turbidity loggers.

Funding

- 2024 Daniel Craig Pignatiello Fund
To fund undergraduate honors thesis
Award Amount: $2500
- 2023 Grover Murray Field Camp Scholarship
Awarded by UNC EMES Department to help pay for field camp.
Award Amount: $1000

Teaching

Virginia Tech

2024 Graduate Teaching Assistant
GEOS 2104. Elements of Geology.

University of North Carolina

2023 Undergraduate Research Mentor
EMES 72H. First-Year Seminar: Field Geology of Eastern California.